Introduction

The annual release of selected official files continues against a background of greater public access through the Freedom of Information Act balanced against the need to protect personal information. The FOI Act (2000) created a new access to information regime and all records were reviewed in accordance with both that Act and the Data Protection Act.

Records continue to be brought forward for release as they approach 30 years of age. This involves the referral of the files to the Responsible Authority for sensitivity review. This entails a page by page examination to ensure that a record contains nothing sensitive as defined by the FOI Act and DP Act.

Records continue to be brought forward for release as they approach 30 years of age. This year's annual release covers the official files with a terminal date of 1982.

Records may be closed either fully or in part only. Partial closure involves the removal of a limited number of papers from the file that have been deemed as exempt from the right to know under FOI. To facilitate the release of as much information as possible, we can also redact (blank out) sensitive data within individual documents which would otherwise prevent release. All information which is withheld in the manner outlined above, however, must be retained in accordance with the exemptions contained within the FOI Act.

Records Recommended for Extended Closure

A total of 16 NI departmental files were recommended for extended full closure. 87 NI departmental files were recommended for extended partial closure or contained information which has been blanked out to allow the release of the remaining contents of the file. In the majority of cases, the reason for extended closure was section 40 Personal Information exemption of the Freedom of Information Act. This means that personal information is exempt from the right to know if it would cause a breach of the Data Protection principles.

A total of 72 NIO files were recommended for extended full closure. 42 NIO files were recommended for extended partial closure or contain information which has been blanked out to allow the release of the remaining contents of the file. In the majority of cases, the reason for extended closure was section 40 Personal Information exemption of the Freedom of Information Act. This means that personal information is exempt from the right to know if it would cause a breach of the Data Protection principles.

This increase in 'Full Closure' recommendations submitted by the Northern Ireland Office for 2012 is largely as a result of the inclusion of a high number of Individual Firearms Appeals files, all of which remain exempt from release due to personal data content.

Records Released

A total of 758 files are being released in full (compared with 557 in 2011) and 129 subject to partial closure or blanking out (compared with 120 in 2011).

The main file series being released includes Central Secretariat and Northern Ireland Office files.

Some of the main issues covered:

- a new devolved Assembly
- NI Assembly elections
- De Lorean
- talks with NI political parties
- Anglo-Irish relations
- economic situation
- prison protests
- political negotiations on the constitution of Northern Ireland
- Kinsale Gas field debate

The release will include some additional 1981 departmental files, primarily from the Northern Ireland Office

Partial closure involves the removal of a limited number of papers from the file that have been deemed as exempt from the right to know under FOI. To facilitate the release of as much information as possible, redaction can be used to blank out sensitive data within individual documents that would otherwise prevent release. All information withheld under this procedure must conform to the exemptions contained in the FOI Act. In the majority of cases, the reason for extended closure was the application of section 40 – the personal information exemption – of the FOI Act. This means that personal information is exempt from the right to know if it would breach the Data Protection principles.
